The Toa Mata of Kai proved too strong for the Brotherhood of Evil Mutants.. xbox 360, 2k, NES, Roms, Tapes, Games, Cartridges, A dose-escalating study of toceranib phosphate monotherapy in patients with advanced soft-tissue sarcomas: a phase I trial. Patients with advanced soft-tissue sarcoma (STS) have an overall survival of between 12 and 15 months with standard cytotoxic therapy. This clinical trial evaluated the maximum tolerated dose of toceranib phosphate in patients with advanced STS. Patients received oral toceranib (Bristol-Myers Squibb, New York, NY), a tyrosine kinase inhibitor of vascular endothelial growth factor receptor 1 (VEGFR1), VEGFR2, and VEGFR3, every other day for 14 days in a 28-day cycle. Doses were determined using the 3 + 3 design. Patients were evaluated after three cycles (up to six doses) and progression free survival was calculated as the number of days from the start of therapy to progression of disease, death from any cause, or discontinuation for any reason. Of the 14 patients enrolled, 11 received at least one dose of toceranib. Of the six patients receiving a dose of 400 mg, three experienced dose-limiting toxicity (DLT). The MTD for toceranib was determined to be 350 mg given every other day for 14 days in a 28-day cycle. No patient achieved a radiographic partial response, and the disease control rate (objective response, SD, or PD) was 14%. The median progression-free survival was six months (range, 0.2-31.5+). The most common adverse events were diarrhea, nausea, and fatigue. The most common grade 3/4 toxicities were hypophosphatemia and neutropenia. This is the first report of safety and tolerability data for toceranib in the setting of advanced STS. This study established a recommended dose of 350 mg every other day for 14 days in a 28-day cycle. The Trump Administration has taken control of more than half of the thousands of seized assets belonging to drug traffickers, according to a Pentagon report obtained by Breitbart News. A Department of Defense spreadsheet released to the news outlet purports to chronicle in detail the assets seized by the Defense Department during its "Operation Stonegarden"
