this game sucks, even for achievements.

. Garbage game used to farm achievements. Sign me up.. Literally the same as the prequel, just another 25 levels. And since they didn't fix the hypersensitive killer wheels, I still shall not recommend this game.

It could be so much better with so little work. (Not a programmer myself, but it seems like something that isn't to hard to fix). Why am I playing this..... Garbage game used to farm achievements. It could be so much better with so little work. (Not a programmer myself, but it seems like something that isn't to hard to fix). cant beat first level. other than that some work went into the game is cool. i would suggest making the hitboxes for the saws a little bit smaller. other than that i like it. 6/10. pretty good game. kinda♥♥♥♥♥tbh the hit boxxes are garbage and the achievement thing gets kinda boring and repetitive after like 20min didnt go past level 1 cuz its so bad all tho for 40 cents i would make a better game on god damn scratch Achievements. 3/10!

Open game and leave running = all achievements.. I don't even know how to pass the first level

10.1/10. This is without doubt an idle game. There have been a little to no focus on gameplay and hitboxes. Cannot recommend to people that is looking for a game to play.

This game can only be recommended to people that want easy achievements.. This one has the same concept and dynamics as the previous version. Move a ball to a specific platform and hit next.

The need of hitting the next button (using the mouse) is quite annoying - this could be improved making "space" or any other key be the trigger. However, I have pretty much the same review:

- Wrong hitboxes

- Bad controls

- Not difficult

- Annoying dynamics. Yet another terrible achievement spammer.. kinda\u2665\u2665\u2665\u2665\u2665tbh the hit boxes are garbage and the achievement thing gets kinda boring and repetitive after like 20min didnt go past level 1 cuz its so bad all tho for 40 cents i would make a better game on god damn scratch. cant beat first level. other than that some work went into the game is cool. i would suggest making the hitboxes for the saws a little bit smaller. other than that i like it. 6/10.
